Our Homeownership Success Story

Cotina Brake did not set out to buy a house when she came to SCDHC, her first goal was to repair her credit and get out of public housing. She was participating in BLISS, a self-sufficiency program from the Office of Community Wealth Building, when she was referred to SCDHC to help improve her credit. Cotina had been living in public housing for over 10 years. She started to improve her financial situation by landing a better paying job. After Credit Counseling and months of establishing a savings for herself. She started the home buying process in June of 2019. With the assistance from SCDHC providing her $14,000 in down payment assistance, the client was able to purchase her first home after renting all her life. Cotina is a prime example of an individual who was committed to her goal and held herself accountable to that goal. By putting forth the work to improve her financial health. The sky is the limit.
