- When explaining how and when the participant believes they were registered it is good to be as detailed as possible and to mention that they are now seeking services from EMERGE and funding requires them to be registered for selective service.
- When explaining how and why the participant failed to register it is good to be as detailed as possible and to mention that they are now seeking services from EMERGE and funding requires them to be registered for selective service. Did they drop out of school before they were 18 and not have the recruiter come to their gym class? Were they hanging out with criminals who were not telling them of their legal obligation to register? Were they in prison for a period of time and then told they couldn’t join the military and then under the impression (or outright told) that they couldn’t register? Were they told by someone they trusted that they didn’t need to register?
- Include any documentation that supports the above claims, court records, medical records, a statutory declaration, etc. Documentation should be mailed to Selective Service with the Status Information Request and a copy placed into the participant’s file. Statutory declarations are similar to sworn statements and affidavits for non-court proceedings, they carry the penalty of perjury and need to be notarized. Declarations should include the statement that the individual did not willfully and knowingly fail to register for selective service.
- For the return address put the participant’s name under Care of Coaches name and office address.
- Photocopy the Stamped envelope before mailing.
